

DRUGGISTS GIVING AWAY MUNYON'S INHALER FREE WITH PAW-PAW A COMPLETE AND POSITIVE CURE FOR CATARRH

PAW-PAW
PURIFIES THE BLOOD AND DRIVES ALL
CATARRH POISONS FROM THE SYSTEM

During the past year I have received hundreds of letters from people stating that my Paw-Paw had cured them of CATARRH. Upon a careful investigation I have satisfied myself that many cases of indigestion and stomach trouble are due to the dropping of catarrhal poison into the stomach.

Catarrh is a blood disease and cannot be permanently cured by local applications. The discharges can be stopped with the inhaler, but the blood must be cleansed of all catarrhal poisons before a permanent cure can be effected. So positive am I that my Paw-Paw and Inhaler will cure any case of Catarrh, whether of the Head, Nose, Throat, Lungs, Stomach or Bowels, that I propose giving away my Inhaler, absolutely free, with every bottle of Paw-Paw.

Remember the Inhaler, the Catarrh Tablets, the Paw-Paw Pills and the $1.00 size bottle of Paw-Paw will be given you for $1.00. The actual value of these goods is $2. I have cut the price to $1.00 in order that every person may take advantage of this complete treatment. If your druggist is not prepared to furnish you this complete treatment, let him write to me and I will fill his orders.

FEARED BIGAMY CHARGE.

Fort Ethan Allen Soldier Skipped Before His Two Wives Met.

Because he feared that he would be brought into court on a charge of bigamy, Private Richard J. Beatty, 23rd battery, F. A., at Fort Ethan Allen, sold his barber shop and gathered all the money he could lay his hands on Saturday evening and deserted. Beatty has been in the battery for the past four years. On December 21, 1904, he married in Burlington Miss Julia Felio. At the time of his marriage he gave the name of George Ridgeway, telling his bride that that was his correct name. He stated that he enlisted in the army under an assumed name as he was wanted by the authorities in Paterson, N. J., in connection with the death of a young girl for whom he made out a prescription, while working for a druggist. He claimed he had no authority to fill the prescription and his mistake resulted in the death of the girl. He has been making preparations to go housekeeping but last Thursday evening he told his wife that he had received a letter which annoyed him. This letter proved to be from Mrs. Beatty No. 1, her maiden name being Mamie Carter of Trenton, N. J. She stated that she had heard her husband had remarried and that she was coming to investigate the matter.

PICKS UP GAUNTLET.

Premier Laurier Will Have By-Election on School Issue.
Montreal, Que., April 11.—The appointment of Frank Oliver, M. P., of Edmonton, Northwest territory, to succeed the Hon. Clifford Sifton as minister of the interior, is the premier's answer to Mr. Borden's challenge that the government "open" a constituency in the Northwest territories or in Manitoba and ascertain whether the people of the West are with him in his autonomy legislation for Alberta and Saskatchewan. The by-election will be fought on the issue of separate schools.

EARLY HISTORY OF THE GRANITE INDUSTRY

Major L. A. Abbott Supplements Late A. M. Jackson's Story With Further Facts of The Days When Industry Was in Its Infancy.

April 8, 1905.
Editor Times: I was much interested to note an article in your bright paper of April 3, by the late A. M. Jackson, an old and valued friend for over sixty odd years, as to who supplied the granite for the Vermont State capitol building at Montpelier. The statement is mainly correct, but there are some points unknown to Mr. Jackson which it may be well to clear up for historical reasons before it is too late.

Colonels Sherman and Joseph D. Harrington were associated peculiarly with R. F. Abbott only, he supplying the granite for the State House, as neither of the other contractors were granite manufacturers. At that time the stone wall running northerly on the right of the road about 300 yards west of the Abbott house where the old collar hole now is, divided the Abbott and Harrington farms north while south of the road they were separated by a Virginia rail fence running southerly a half mile or more as far as the top of the mountain built on a prolongation of the before-mentioned wall. The long narrow string of quarries which had changed but little in fifty years or more in 1903, to the west of this rail fence which has since been removed, on the north side of the mountain, belonged to the Harrington, and those on the east to the Abbott estate before its division among the heirs of Abijah Abbott, my grandfather, the latter covering fully three times as much quarry ground as the Harrington.

Neither Sherman or William Bradford—the latter of whom delivered the granite at Montpelier—owned quarries nor were they manufacturers, but both have been wrongly credited with having supplied the State House granite; and the general belief in late years by the public has been that it was all supplied from the Little Cobble Hill or Hewitt-Wheaton quarry, when as a matter of fact it was by Abbott from the Abbott-Harrington quarries, the latter of which Abbott leased for several years. The quarries which joined each other on these two estates were the first opened on what was then known as Stallion but now as Millstone Hill. As customary in that day and later within the knowledge of the writer, an occasional stone required on a hurry order may have been taken by Abbott from the Little Cobble Hill quarry, as owners of quarries were very obliging in such a respect.

Col. Sherman became interested in the contract from the fact that his son, Hon. A. S. Sherman, at that time (1833) married one of Abbott's sisters, but Abbott was the moving spirit in the State House contract as he was in most others of that day pertaining to the granite industry. The writer fully recollects Col. Harrington as a well-to-do genial farmer, always a staunch friend of Abbott's but was never a granite manufacturer. The long stone-shed shown in an illustration in a work by the writer of some 1,200 pages or more now being printed, which will be sent to the Barre library when done, was built by Col. Harrington for my father, who learned the former's son, Ira, the granite manufacturer's trade about that time, which shows that Col. Harrington was never a manufacturer, and at any rate never within the remembrance of the writer. Colonel Harrington and Sherman shared in the profits of the State House contract, but my father supplied the granite, the pecuniary responsibility for that or any other day for many decades of such a large contract being too great for anyone locally to assume alone.

Yours truly,

Vermont to the Rescue.
Senator Proctor of Vermont was talking to a group of prominent men in the New Willard lobby yesterday, including Col. J. Hamilton Lewis, Senator Daniel, and Hon. Hampton Carson, attorney general of Pennsylvania.

"Senator," interrogated Col. Lewis, "is it true that some enterprising fellow-citizens of yours have sold pieces of marble from your quarries for Vermont maple sugar?"

The shrewd statesman from the Green Mountain country laughed. "You fellows remind me of an incident that happened to a railroad train some time ago. The Pullman conductor rushed into the smoker yelling out, 'Any of you passengers from Maine or Vermont?' when up leaped a tall Yankee, inspired by the thought that some occasion for his patriotism had arisen. 'Yes,' said he, 'I be from Vermont.'"

"Well, then, come back here in the Pullman car, where there's a lady who's got her spruce gum and maple sugar mixed up and wants some one to help her pick it out."—Washington, D. C., Post.

25 YEARS OF AGONY ENDED

Boston Business Man Cured By Cuticura of Awful Humor Covering Head, Neck, and Shoulders After Hospital and Doctors Failed.

Under date of September 9, 1904, Mr. S. P. Keyes, a well-known business man of No. 149 Congress Street,

Boston, Mass., says: "Cuticura did wonders for me. For twenty-five years I suffered agonies from a terrible humor, completely covering my head, neck and shoulders, discharging matter of such offensiveness to sight and smell, that to my friends, and even to my wife, I became an object of dread. At large expense I consulted the most able doctors far and near. Their treatment was of no avail, nor was that of the—hospital, during six months' efforts. I suffered on and concluded there was no help for me this side of the grave. Then I heard of some one who had been cured by Cuticura, and thought that a trial could do no harm. In a surprisingly short time I was completely cured."

Immortality in Burlington.
Margaret Jacobson, a pronounced blond, was in Burlington city court on Saturday and pleaded guilty to a charge of immoral conduct. She was sentenced by Judge Mower to serve not less than four and not more than six months in the house of correction. As the result of disclosures made by this girl the police visited Fanny Borette's place on Interval avenue and arrested her and a girl named Gokey.

A MEMORIAL TO GEN. ESTEY.

His Sons Offer to Present Pipe Organ to Brattleboro Baptist Church.

Brattleboro, April 11.—The congregation in the First Baptist church was greatly surprised and deeply moved at the close of the morning service Sunday when the pastor, the Rev. George B. Lawson, read a communication from Col. J. Gray Estey and Capt. J. Henry Estey, president and treasurer respectively of the Estey Organ Co., offering to present the church a pipe organ in memory of their father, the late Gen. Julius J. Estey, in place of the present pipe organ.

The letter was as follows: "For some time we have desired to place in the church an appropriate memorial to our beloved father and his constant devotion to the church and all of its interests.

"Knowing as we do the pressing need of the church for a more suitable organ than they now have, and realizing that no more appropriate memorial could be erected to his memory, we shall esteem it a privilege, if a suitable location be provided, to present to the church such an organ as will be a fitting memorial to one whose devotion and love for the church were never found wanting.

"All details of the matter to be arranged with the trustees of the church. "Will you kindly present this matter to the church."

At the annual meeting of the church last week the matter of buying a new organ and locating it in a more advantageous position was discussed, and the trustees were constituted a committee to look into the matter, but nothing was known of the contemplated action of Colonel Estey and Captain Estey.
